

The Supermasters division jumps from 14 teams to 17 in 2005. The new additions, Cactus Lacrosse (Univ. of Arizona alums and friends), the Princeton Obsoletes (representing the growing New Jersey lacrosse community), the Elder Statesman (Hobart Alums who may even bring Coach Dave Urick—now whistling at Georgetown—for x's and o's) and the TriCity Canadians provide nice geographic diversity and are sprinkled throughout the first day pool play. Players have pushed Social Security questions aside for the week and pose the following: Can defending champs CVLC return with the dominant goalkeeping duo of Pretrosko and Crisco? Can Tombstone raise some scoring power from the crypt? Will Navy bring the big guns? Was Tap Room a one night stand in '03? Will the '05 format help any of the middle of the pack—Middlebury, Frogs, Lax Planet, Magic Wands, Rockies, Behind the Back or USA Stars reach the final four? Will new recruits reinforce WOOFs and AFA Gray Birds?
